Ocean City with his wife, Cindy, after raising their four children in Dennisville. He coached soccer, baseball, street-hockey and served as both cubmaster and scoutmaster for the Boy Scouts of America for more than 15 years.

"It's been a great pleasure working here with the city and it's been a great council to work with," Dietrich said.

He said he would continue Voll's mission of working with city department heads.

"We have a lot of big projects that are affecting the city moving forward," Dietrich said. "I hope to bring on a deputy city manager to help me supplement what I'm doing."

During public comment, former councilwoman Stacy Sheehan asked if council would approve the deputy city manager position.

Mullock said it was a lot to place all duties on one person since Dietrich was continuing as city engineer. Sheehan said no other municipalities in the county have a deputy city manager.

Dietrich said he would continue to be the city's floodplain manager, housing liaison and Joint Insurance Fund commissioner. He said council would be involved in the selection process of a deputy city manager.

Sheehan asked if Dietrich would have other jobs outside of the city; Dietrich serves as the floodplain manager for Cape May Point.

Gillin-Schwartz said Dietrich would not have any other positions that would conflict with his city duties.

Dennis Crowley, chairman of the city's Municipal Taxation and Revenue Advisory Committee, said council has finally learned under which form of government Cape May operates.

"This appointment is a professional city manager who is going to be a city manager and is going to do exactly what he is supposed to do in an environment where the council is going to do exactly what they're supposed to do," he said.

law of Sr. Kathryn McTague; stepfather of Karen Fleck and Dawn Kondreck; cherished husband of the late Shirley (nee Heine-mann) and the late Angela (nee McTague).

Tony was born in Sheboygan, attended SS. Cyril and Methodius Grammar School and graduated from Central High in 1947. He graduated from Marquette University in 1951 with a bachelor's degree in philosophy.

Tony was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps in August 1951, retiring as a lieutenant colonel in June 1972. He served as an infantry officer in both the Korean War, in which he was wounded, and the Vietnam War. Upon retirement from the Marines, he resided in Cape May, N.J., where he served as senior county probation officer.

Tony and Angela McTague married in May 1954, with Angela passing in June 1988. In 2002, Tony married Shirley Fleck after reconnecting at a high school reunion. Shirley passed in February 2022.

Tony loved tennis, history, reading, sports, going out for breakfast and spending time with his family.

Tony's services were Dec. 9 at Kain-Murphy Funeral Services in Haddonfield, N.J. Interment was held privately at St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery in Cape May.

In lieu of flowers, charitable donations in Tony's name may be made to samaritanj.org/giving or Deborah Heart and Lung Center deborahfoundation.org/donate (note: HeroCare Connect in the comments).

MILDRED A. MACDONALD, 89

With heavy hearts, we announce the passing of our beloved mother, Mildred Ann Macdonald, on Dec. 5, 2023, at the age of 89.

Millie was born Sept. 10, 1934, in North Wildwood, N.J., to parents Sterling and Bertha Dickinson.

Her parents owned multiple businesses and passed down their strong work ethic and faith in God, which guided her throughout her lifetime.

The bond between Millie and Bertha was incredibly strong; they were equally devoted to the love and care for each other and their loved ones. We now find comfort in knowing they will be reunited forever.

Millie graduated from Wildwood Catholic High School and enjoyed spending time with her large extended family. Millie had a lifelong love of her family, Cape May, music, dancing, basketball and a great pair of jeans.

We have lifelong memories of her house on Perry Street, which smelled of wisteria and honeysuckle.

The door was always open, it was warm and cozy. She was always cooking something delicious on the stove. Proof that simple things in life can be the most rewarding.

Millie lived a blessed life and is survived by daughters Dori Perkins, Kathleen Olsen (Gregory) and Susie Macdonald, and son Gregory Macdonald; granddaughters Jamie Leigh Martino (Tony), Liberty Olsen (Steve) and Anya Olsen; and great-grandson Thomas Martino.

Millie loved spending time with her granddaughters. She was so proud of the strong, independent and hard-working women they have become. She would get the biggest smile when seeing pictures of her great-grandson Tommy.

We would like to thank the staff and residents of the second floor at North Cape Center and everyone who kept Millie in their hearts and prayers.

Mildred's Mass of Christian Burial is scheduled to be celebrated at 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 14, at Our Lady Star of the Sea Church, 525 Washington St. in Cape May, where her viewing will take place from 12:30 to 12:55 p.m. Interment will follow Mass at St. Mary's Cemetery in Cape May.
