County Commission Chairman Leonard Desiderio presents a check to Cape May City Council for $400,000 to help pay for infrastructure improvements.

City receives infrastructure grant

CAPE MAY — The city received a $400,000 check from the county to be used for infrastructure projects, part of $6.4 million in grant awards to all county municipalities.

The $400,000 per municipality grants are to be used for priority drinking water, storm water, and sanitary sewer infrastructure projects in each of the 16 municipalities in the county.

Cape May County Commission Director Leonard C. Desiderio visited Cape May City Council on May 16, stating municipal government and county government should work together a lot better than they had in the past.

"I've always felt that the county government is just an extension of municipal government, so your problems are our problems," he said. "As Cape May City goes, Cape May County goes and the same with the other 15 municipalities in our county."

Desiderio proposed four meetings per year with mayors, round table discussions of what's taking place in the county. He said a town may not have the same problem as another municipality today but in the future, it may come about.

Municipalities are eligible for a county grant for infrastructure projects such as road construction. Cape May passed with "flying colors," he said.

Council members lined up for a photo with Desiderio, County Commissioner Andrew Bulakowski and County Administrator Kevin Lare.

Mayor Zack Mullock thanked the county for the check. He said it was clear that Desiderio has served as mayor based on the meetings he put together. Desiderio said his colleagues would attend local council meetings.

"They're not going to give away the farm, but they'll listen, and they can report back to us because we're all one big happy family now," he said.

Desiderio also presented a $400,000 check to Lower Township on May 15.
