In 2020, Jerry Indervisaw paid $22 million in community health center or completeCare used to send local pregnant moth resources for them to get back in role, the next-year since 2011 for a total $22 million in community health center. In September, council approved the resolution authorizing the city to spend up to $100,000 in the city's Housing Trust Fund for theaffordable Housing Trust Fund. "We are committed to ensuring that the Harrisburg Trust Fund is used for its intended purpose," Mullock said. "Today, that trust fund is $2 million, which is a small amount of money, but it is enough to meet the needs of the city of Cape May, that's why we have asked the employees to return the stipends." In September, council approved the resolution authorizing the city to spend up to $100,000 in the city's Housing Trust Fund. "We are committed to ensuring that the Harrisburg Trust Fund is used for its intended purpose," Mullock said. "Today, that trust fund is $2 million, which is a small amount of money, but it is enough to meet the needs of the city of Cape May, that's why we have asked the employees to return the stipends." In September, council approved the resolution authorizing the city to spend up to $100,000 in the city's Housing Trust Fund. "We are committed to ensuring that the Harrisburg Trust Fund is used for its intended purpose," Mullock said. "Today, that trust fund is $2 million, which is a small amount of money, but it is enough to meet the needs of the city of Cape May, that's why we have asked the employees to return the stipends." In September, council approved the resolution authorizing the city to spend up to $100,000 in the city's Housing Trust Fund. "We are committed to ensuring that the Harrisburg Trust Fund is used for its intended purpose," Mullock said. "Today, that trust fund is $2 million, which is a small amount of money, but it is enough to meet the needs of the city of Cape May, that's why we have asked the employees to return the stipends."