Let’s Talk
Call me today for a complimentary portfolio review.
Visit our website and sign up for our free newsletter.
609.884.8085
www.capeim.com
gary@capeim.com
Providing advice on financial, estate, tax, retirement, and environmental stewardship.
Cape Investment Management
139 Broadway | Cape May, NJ | 08204

Our fondest wishes for Peace, Love and Health to you and yours.

May your Holiday Season be bright and your New Year filled with happiness and prosperity.

Cape May Star and Wave
By Jack Fichter
Lower Ok’s Erma sewer bonds

"Among the accommodations I remember from the last four years are the ways that are uplift ing and satisfying for our neighbors, visitors, Capitown, businesses and community organizations," Hendricks said. "It would continue to safeguard and promote Cape May’s resiliency and sustainability and understand, to me, the value of the community’s health and well-being. And to preserve the outtwatch we have for our free newsletter.
850 new customers.
O’Connor said estimates
MUA revenue.

Lower Ok’s Erma sewer bonds

"Vacuum sewer seems to be the most reasonable way to sewer this entire area and the cost of it is half, $15 million," he said.
O’Connor said MUA can take a different approach for the project and bring in other options.
"I’ll miss our serious conversations and their good humor," he said.
"I extend my deep appreciation to the countless number of volunteers who labored and served our city during our invaluable advisory committees," Lear continued. "They are simply the best and the brightest in the interest of our city."
"I wish the new City Council will and can bring us solutions in any way that advances this city that we cherish," he said.

Lear, Hendricks say goodbye

A2 WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 2020

Lear, Hendricks say goodbye

The Parking Advisory Committee sought to undertake the city’s partsistent parking woes and studied new approaches to resolve challenges, Hendricks said.
"I encourage the new administration to build on these successes," Hendricks said. "Let’s remember the innovative — beach safety. In fact, we’ve never seen from high-priced consulting firms, they offered essential ways for the city’s day-to-day business. They are simply the best and the brightest in the interest of our city."
"I wish the new City Council will and can bring us solutions in any way that advances this city that we cherish," he said.

Lear, Hendricks say goodbye

The Parking Advisory Committee sought to undertake the city’s part-
sistent parking woes and studied new approaches to resolve challenges, Hendricks said.
"I encourage the new administration to build on these successes," Hendricks said. "Let’s remember the innovative — beach safety. In fact, we’ve never seen from high-priced consulting firms, they offered essential ways for the city’s day-to-day business. They are simply the best and the brightest in the interest of our city."
"I wish the new City Council will and can bring us solutions in any way that advances this city that we cherish," he said.