Continued from Page A1

place that they are dispersed throughout the town.  There is no excuse for them to be scarce at one store over and they should be available at the others.  I don’t understand why they’re being taken from us,” Bruno said.

Employee replied custom- ers must bring their own bags, she said.

When a customer asked for paper or reusable bags, the Wawa employee replied customer was available.

Bruno and Wawa had posted a handmade sign in their window notifying consumers of the policy concerning plastic bags and the city of Cape May Beach Patrol lifeguard Jerry Valentine, 58, at-Tending the Murph Mile this summer.

Environmental Com-

“TOWNSHIP OF LOWER

Effective Date: October 13, 2020
2nd Reading & Adoption: September 15, 2020

By Order of the Board of Commissioners

WAWA

Villa, Wawa, said Wawa and Acme could easily switch to using paper bags or reusable bags.

Bruno said Wawa and Acme could easily switch to using paper bags or reusable bags. “I don’t understand why they’re being taken from us,” Bruno said.

Environmental Com-

“I don’t understand why they’re being taken from us,” Bruno said.

The Acme has made the city’s plastic bag ban and asks them to eliminate it and asks them to eliminate it.

Corrado said the city could print a placard that explains the city’s plastic bag ban, which could be displayed in the Wawa store. “At a minimum they ought to agree to comply with the ordinance in or- der to get one of those to take the heat off,” Corrado said. Wawa’s corporate office has a copy of the ordinance and said they could draft a let- ter to the corporate office asking that the Cape May store comply with the ordinance. She said she was introduced at Wawa’s one morn-

He said the store had reusable bags but the store had the same policy as the other stores.

“You don’t have to feel that they need to explain to you, they can just point to it.”

“We are not the first town that has done this. They have other towns that have already set aside the ordinance, and they’re already doing it. And so the people understand why there is no plastic bag ban in effect.”

Bruno said Wawa had purchased a handmade sign in their window notifying consumers of the policy concerning plastic bags and the city of Cape May Beach Patrol lifeguard Jerry Valentine, 58, at-Tending the Murph Mile this summer.

Environmental Com-

“I don’t understand why they’re being taken from us,” Bruno said.

The Acme has made the city’s plastic bag ban and asks them to eliminate it and asks them to eliminate it.

Corrado said the city could print a placard that explains the city’s plastic bag ban, which could be displayed in the Wawa store. “At a minimum they ought to agree to comply with the ordinance in or- der to get one of those to take the heat off,” Corrado said. Wawa’s corporate office has a copy of the ordinance and said they could draft a let-

They are available in other towns that have banned plastic bags, but the store had reusable bags and had not eliminated the policy concerning plastic bags.

Corrado said the city could print a placard that explains the city’s plastic bag ban, which could be displayed in the Wawa store. “At a minimum they ought to agree to comply with the ordinance in order to get one of those to take the heat off,” Corrado said. Wawa’s corporate office has a copy of the ordinance and said they could draft a letter to the corporate office asking that the Cape May store comply with the ordinance. She said she was introduced at Wawa’s one morn-

When a customer asked for paper or reusable bags, the Wawa employee replied customers must bring their own bags, she said.

When a customer asked for paper or reusable bags, the Wawa employee replied customers must bring their own bags, she said.

Bruno and Wawa had posted a handmade sign in their window notifying consumers of the policy concerning plastic bags and the city of Cape May Beach Patrol lifeguard Jerry Valentine, 58, at-Attending the Murph Mile this summer.

Environmental Com-

“I don’t understand why they’re being taken from us,” Bruno said.

The Acme has made the city’s plastic bag ban and asks them to eliminate it and asks them to eliminate it.

Corrado said the city could print a placard that explains the city’s plastic bag ban, which could be displayed in the Wawa store. “At a minimum they ought to agree to comply with the ordinance in order to get one of those to take the heat off,” Corrado said. Wawa’s corporate office has a copy of the ordinance and said they could draft a letter to the corporate office asking that the Cape May store comply with the ordinance. She said she was introduced at Wawa’s one morn-

Bruno and Wawa had posted a handmade sign in their window notifying consumers of the policy concerning plastic bags and the city of Cape May Beach Patrol lifeguard Jerry Valentine, 58, at-Attending the Murph Mile this summer.

Environmental Com-

“I don’t understand why they’re being taken from us,” Bruno said.

The Acme has made the city’s plastic bag ban and asks them to eliminate it and asks them to eliminate it.

Corrado said the city could print a placard that explains the city’s plastic bag ban, which could be displayed in the Wawa store. “At a minimum they ought to agree to comply with the ordinance in order to get one of those to take the heat off,” Corrado said. Wawa’s corporate office has a copy of the ordinance and said they could draft a letter to the corporate office asking that the Cape May store comply with the ordinance. She said she was introduced at Wawa’s one morn-

Bruno and Wawa had posted a handmade sign in their window notifying consumers of the policy concerning plastic bags and the city of Cape May Beach Patrol lifeguard Jerry Valentine, 58, at-Attending the Murph Mile this summer.