CAPE MAY — City Council and its personnel to Councilman Jack Wichteman on the eve of the election Nov. 3.

Wichteman, who currently serves as deputy mayor, will fill a vacant seat created by the retirement of incumbent Mayor Edward Mahaney. He was appointed in January 2014 to fill a seat left by the resignation of former Mayor

City Council voted unanimously at a special meeting April 1 to appoint the former deputy mayor to a vacant a seat that will be filled by election Nov. 3.

The special election was called after Councilman Frank Scott, who was appointed in August 2014 to fill a seat vacated by the retirement of former Mayor Edward Mahaney, was elected last month to the state Senate and vacated the council seat.

Wichteman, a lifelong resident of Cape May City, has served in many roles within the city, including as a councilman and as a member of the planning board. He is currently serving as the city's assistant director of public works.

City Council gave the go-ahead for the construction of a new police station in the Public Safety Building.

The new station will be constructed in the Public Safety Building
