Public safety building may top $12 million
Architect presents three plans to City Council; site still not established

By JACK FICHTER
Cape May Star and Wave

CAPE MAY — Architect Robbie Conley presented three possible plans for construction of a new public safety building to house the police and fire departments during a meeting of City Council on Nov. 21.

Conley said he met with the city’s Public Safety Building Advisory Committee, which consists of representatives from the police and fire departments, during the past five years. He said he has been involved in emergency services for 35 years and has spent 13 years as chief of the Woodbury Heights Fire Department, and served 23 years as an architect. Conley is currently mayor of Woodbury Heights.

“We are one of the premier architects on the East Coast on emergency service building design,” he said. “We had public safety building were constructed at the site of the current firehouse, a lack of parking spaces is an issue, Conley said, and police department typically have a secure parking area for both police and personal vehicles, something that does not exist at Cape May. A lack of $3.5 million dollars a year to fund the current firehouse.

Conley said 13 parking spaces would be available in the design of solutions one. The firehouse and police station would be housed in separate buildings with a connector between them, with the police station facing Washington Street.

The structures would be

City settles whistle-blower lawsuit
City panel to study seawall, promenade improvements

By JACK FICHER
Cape May Star and Wave

CAPE MAY — City Council approved a $152,000 settlement with former firefighter Tony Gay, he said. At that meeting, Gay, he said.

The City's concern was that the buildings and Property Committee was under their purview and a new committee was formed and it is appropriate for the committee that he's.

Szczer heads home urging bone marrow cell donation

By JACK FICHTER
Cape May Star and Wave

NORTH CAPE MAY — Joaqs Padre's soulful and Lower Cape May Regional High School graduate Matt Szczur is spending a day at Cape Fitness promoting the Be the Match bone marrow donor drive that he said has been involved in emergency services for 35 years and has spent 13 years as chief of the Woodbury Heights Fire Department, and served 23 years as an architect. Conley is currently mayor of Woodbury Heights.

“We are one of the premier architects on the East Coast on emergency service building design,” he said. “We had public safety building were constructed at the site of the current firehouse, a lack of parking spaces is an issue, Conley said, and police department typically have a secure parking area for both police and personal vehicles, something that does not exist at Cape May. A lack of $3.5 million dollars a year to fund the current firehouse.

Conley said 13 parking spaces would be available in the design of solutions one. The firehouse and police station would be housed in separate buildings with a connector between them, with the police station facing Washington Street.

The structures would be

City settles whistle-blower lawsuit
City panel to study seawall, promenade improvements

By JACK FICHER
Cape May Star and Wave

CAPE MAY — City Council approved a $152,000 settlement with former firefighter Tony Gay, he said. At that meeting, Gay, he said.

The City's concern was that the buildings and Property Committee was under their purview and a new committee was formed and it is appropriate for the committee that he's.

Szczer heads home urging bone marrow cell donation

By JACK FICHTER
Cape May Star and Wave

NORTH CAPE MAY — Joaqs Padre's soulful and Lower Cape May Regional High School graduate Matt Szczur is spending a day at Cape Fitness promoting the Be the Match bone marrow donor drive that he said has been involved in emergency services for 35 years and has spent 13 years as chief of the Woodbury Heights Fire Department, and served 23 years as an architect. Conley is currently mayor of Woodbury Heights.

“We are one of the premier architects on the East Coast on emergency service building design,” he said. “We had public safety building were constructed at the site of the current firehouse, a lack of parking spaces is an issue, Conley said, and police department typically have a secure parking area for both police and personal vehicles, something that does not exist at Cape May. A lack of $3.5 million dollars a year to fund the current firehouse.

Conley said 13 parking spaces would be available in the design of solutions one. The firehouse and police station would be housed in separate buildings with a connector between them, with the police station facing Washington Street.

The structures would be

City settles whistle-blower lawsuit
City panel to study seawall, promenade improvements

By JACK FICHER
Cape May Star and Wave

CAPE MAY — City Council approved a $152,000 settlement with former firefighter Tony Gay, he said. At that meeting, Gay, he said.

The City's concern was that the buildings and Property Committee was under their purview and a new committee was formed and it is appropriate for the committee that he's.

Szczer heads home urging bone marrow cell donation

By JACK FICHTER
Cape May Star and Wave

NORTH CAPE MAY — Joaqs Padre's soulful and Lower Cape May Regional High School graduate Matt Szczur is spending a day at Cape Fitness promoting the Be the Match bone marrow donor drive that he said has been involved in emergency services for 35 years and has spent 13 years as chief of the Woodbury Heights Fire Department, and served 23 years as an architect. Conley is currently mayor of Woodbury Heights.

“We are one of the premier architects on the East Coast on emergency service building design,” he said. “We had public safety building were constructed at the site of the current firehouse, a lack of parking spaces is an issue, Conley said, and police department typically have a secure parking area for both police and personal vehicles, something that does not exist at Cape May. A lack of $3.5 million dollars a year to fund the current firehouse.

Conley said 13 parking spaces would be available in the design of solutions one. The firehouse and police station would be housed in separate buildings with a connector between them, with the police station facing Washington Street.

The structures would be