North Cape May man dies in crash

By CRAIG D. SCHENCK

CAPE MAY — The first phase of work on contamination left behind underground by a former manufactured gas plant at St. Johns and Lafayette streets was scheduled to be completed in a matter of a few days but may be delayed due to a crash that occurred at the site as the remediation team waits for the arrival of a trencher that was ordered out of stock, according to City Manager Bruce MacLeod.

On the previous day, a large man made by adults. He said the containment wall work should be completed by March 22. MacLeod said the containment burner would be 3 feet wide, about 55 feet long and approximately 1.25 feet in rectangular length. During the seven to 10 days while installation of the containment burner is taking place, one to two dump signs will be visible to the public.
