Bazaar a Cape May Point tradition since 1954

By BETTY WUND Special to the Star and Wave

CAPE MAY POINT — It started in 1954 because a group of borough women wanted to raise money to plant flowers at the entrance pillars on Cape Avenue, according to Lee Shupert, co-chair of the 2016 Cape May Point Civic Club Bazaar. This year the event is planned for 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 2 at the firehouse on Yale Avenue, rain or

The first event, 61 years ago, was a food sale that raised $208, Shupert said, adding that the bazaar profits went to the plantings and $25 was donated to the fire department. More money has been raised since and the number of projects and donations has increased.

The bazaar includes many different opportunities for the public to find food and baked goods for sale, buy snacks or lunch including hoagies. There is also a silent auction and four raffles.

Shupert said her family has been members of the Civic Club for two generations. Her mother and aunt were officers in the early days of the bazaar. Her mother was president at one time. The club started with 10 women, now 85 women have memberships according to Shupert. Her co-chair this year is Connie year Campanella said.

Campanella. A part-time resident for years, she is now permanently living in the borough.

It's something special. It is an event that brings the community together," Campanella said. "Everyone comes out to help. When it rained one year people appeared without having to be called to move things under cover.'

Shupert said the bazaar started with 10 volunteers. Now there are at least 80 according to Campanella. The goal this year is to raise more than the $15,000 raised last

The funds are distributed among community projects and to more than 20 county and national non-profits.

There will be food tables, White Elephant Sale tables, book sale tables, selling more than 2,000 books and tables selling Cape May Point sweat shirts and hats according to the co-chairs. There will also be a craft table.

A group organized by Irene Schriner produces crocheted items for sale. There is also a table for Fourth of July decorations. These are bought for decorating houses and bicycles for the annual Fourth of July bike parade are also for sale. Raffles are a big part of the event, said the ladies. More than 400 people participated in the raffles last year. There is a raffle for gift baskets with 32 restaurant gift certificates in one raffle. There will be a 50/50 raffle and a special raffle for a Weber grill and Margaritaville beach umbrella donated by Swains Hardware. The grill tickets are being sold throughout the community now and will be sold at the Bazaar as well.

Themed baskets of donated items will be part of a raffle where tickets are dropped into a bag for each basket and the winning ticket is drawn from the bag. For the silent auction, bidders put their name and the amount they are willing to pay on a sheet of paper by each item. The highest bid gets the item. Always popular are vacation travel and house rentals in that auction. This year there will also be a quilt and furniture according to the co-chairs.

The book, Monarch X-Ing, by Cape My Point summer resident Pecki Sherman Witonsky, will be sold at the bazaar they said. Inspired by learning about how Cape May Point is a safe haven for monarchs on their way to Mexico for the winter months, she has created on that winds through the bor- her property a Monarch Way located on the left side of station which is registered by the New Jersey State Division of Fish and Wildlife. Donations for the White Elephant sale are being accepted now at the borough's Sunset Boulevard half way between Cape Avenue and the World War II Lookout Tower. For more information, go to Facebook page, "2016 Cape May Point Ba-

Also in the plan under property protection are measures such as acquisition, elevation, relocation, structural retrofits, storm shutters, rebuilding, barriers, flood proofing. The hazard mitigation plan includes public awareness projects, real estate disclosure, hazard information centers and technical assistance.

In other business, council introduced an ordinance amending an existing ordinance governing secondhand merchants and dealers of precious metals. The amendment defines secondhand goods as "any previously owned goods, merchandise or used article whatsoever including but not limited to coins, gemstones, gift cards, any tools, telephones, typewriters, word processors, GPS devices, computers, computer hardware and software, television sets, radios, record or stereo sets, electronic devices, musical instruments, sporting goods, automotive equipment, collectibles, game cartridges, DVDs, CDs and other electronically recorded material, cameras and camera equipment, video equipment, furniture, clothing and other valuable articles.
