Cape May workers tackle tons of snow, broken water pipes

By JACK FICHTER
Cape May Star and Wave

CAPE MAY — City Manager Bruce MacLeod thanked Cape May’s public safety personnel for their service Feb. 16-17, mentioning the 6-7 inches of snow that fell this week has caused a

“...Continued from Page A1

Cape May — City Council approved a $475,000 bond ordinance Feb. 16 to fund the study of the seawall that extends from Madison Avenue to Wilmington Avenue and continues to the corner of New Jersey Avenue. The ordinance will allow the city to proceed with a study of the seawall to determine what methods of hard anti- erosion are required to protect the city from flooding due to the effects of climate change.

A second project on Dela

“...Continued from Page A1

Cape May — City Council approved a $475,000 bond ordinance Feb. 16 to fund the study of the seawall that extends from Madison Avenue to Wilmington Avenue and continues to the corner of New Jersey Avenue. The ordinance will allow the city to proceed with a study of the seawall to determine what methods of hard anti- erosion are required to protect the city from flooding due to the effects of climate change.

A second project on Dela...