Coast Guard names vessel for war hero

Fast Response Cutter Rollin Fritch includes state-of-the-art technology

By MARK ALLEN

The slightly larger U.S. Coast Guard Fast Response Cutter Rollin Fritch, homeported in Cape May, offers cutting-edge technology and a better living environment for its crew.

The Rollin Fritch, the 29th Fast Response Cutter, is named after Coast Guard Petty Officer First Class Michael Hunter. He was the cutter’s second mate with Petty Officer First Class Michael Henderson. He died in Aug. 1944, six months after being launched, while Japanese airplanes were bombing into the South Pacific during World War II.

"This is part of the history of our city,' Laboux said. "We want to have a monument of the city’s war hero, who lived and died in this city."

LABOUX WRITES

According to Laboux, a report from the Provost Marshal of the 6th Armored Division. Laboux states the body was "surely an American soldier, probably of the 6th Armored Division. The body is that of a man with a letter to Lower Township, we want to know who this man is."

"This man was a hero to our city," Laboux said. "We want to have a monument of the city’s war hero, who lived and died in this city."

"We want to have a monument of the city’s war hero, who lived and died in this city."

Lower Twp. mayor Beck seeks relatives of World War II hero

French town wants to honor Cold Spring native Edward Hunter

By JACK FICHTER

Cape May Star and Wave

"There is a gesture that will operate a super-management system within this village. It is a gesture of respect and affection, particularly for those who have been through the back of the march, the back of the march, the back of the march," Laboux said. "We want to have a monument for those who have been through the back of the march, the back of the march, the back of the march."